Cieza Peak (4,929m), East Face

Kyrgyzstan, Tien Shan

Spanish climbers Murcia Fe?lix Go?mez de Leo?n and Jose? Antonio Pastor completed the possible first ascent of a 4,929m peak above the Dikiy Glacier, a branch of the South Inylchek Glacier extending southward to the Pobeda massif. Starting from a camp at 3,950m, the two climbed the east face, with most of the difficulties in the final 500m (snow and ice to 65°). They descended the south ridge and slopes to the east, and named the peak after their home town.
